

Humber College Fall 2023 CE Offerings

Available until December 31 - 7:00pm

“Exploring Alkaline Hydrolysis”

This is a recording of seminar that was held on September 21, 2023. The video takes you on a video tour through the process of alkaline hydrolysis, followed by an interactive discussion that was moderated by your Humber faculty members. John Cunningham provided participants with an opportunity for in-depth discovery of what the process of alkaline hydrolysis involves, dispelled any myths about the process and answered any questions participants had.

Available until December 31 – 6pm

“Jurisprudence 301: A Refresher to Address Common Compliance Issues as Reported by the BAO”

Following our last jurisprudence CE event in 2020 it was suggested this topic be revisited every now and then to ensure licensees are up to speed with the requirements of the FBCSA. This 2-hour CE session was led by Jeff Caldwell, addressing compliance issues that our regulator reports as prevailing misunderstandings and oversights in day-to-day operations. Protect yourself as a licensee by watching this webinar to you know what is expected when working in Ontario’s funeral sector.

December 7 – 7:00-9:00pm

“No One Left Behind: Bridging the Gap Between the Funeral Industry and the Disability Community”

NO ONE LEFT BEHIND, are powerful words. Their meaning is made all the more powerful with the realization that gaps do exist between the funeral industry and the disability community. At this time there is nothing bridging these two services.

There is currently limited conversation, awareness and education within the funeral industry on the topic of disability.

Disability awareness and education is an essential piece to this equation. In offering such education it narrows the gap, builds confidence within both services and allows for the disability community to not feel LEFT BEHIND.

This seminar will be presented by Carrie Batt, founder of Seol Care Disability Sensitivity Grief Supports, along with Anthony Frisina and Matteo Esposito.
